Segregation of young white prisoners in Fulton county was begun yesterday on the order of County Commissioner Ed Almand and Public Works Superintendent A. A. Clarke.

Sandy Springs camp was set aside for first offenders and the Ben Hill camp for hardened criminals. The River camp will be used as the honor camp.

Clarke was instructed to begin immediately to weed out first offenders from other camps.

The segregation will be gradual in order not to interrupt work plans, Almand said. The move resulted from the recommendation of the grand jury.

Almand said the trusty system will remain in use.

POLICE SEEK TO LINK THIRD MAN TO CRIME

Police are now seeking to link the third man held definitely with the robbery of the Claude S. Bennett Jewelry Company following identification Monday of Lee Arthur Bunch by R. R. Tollison, manager of the Henry Grady garage, as the man Tollison saw running through a garage near the scene of the robbery a few minutes after the trio had spatched six trays of diamonds and fled.

Harry Hopkins is the only one the trio who has not been identified. Harry Odom, with whom Bunch was arrested, was identified recently by Mrs. Lucile Harris, a sister of Mr. Bennett, as one of the robber trio.

"Is this Mrs. Simpson's residence?" the correspondent asked.

The voice that answered was the same the correspondent had heard so many times—last in the plain little courtroom in Ipswich this afternoon when she testified in the action which resulted in her divorce decree.

Mrs. Simpson, who sounded extremely nervous and excited, replied that she felt all the newspapers and other organs of public opinion in the United States had been persecuting her. Of the publicity she has received generally she said:

"It is terrible.

"The things that have been said about me are almost beyond belief. I have never seen or heard anything like it. I feel terrible hurt and humiliated."

The correspondent, recalling an ear-

Admiral Reeves arrived in Atlanta for Navy Day two and a half hours late. Delayed trains in the east had disrupted his schedule. From the train, he went immediately to the Georgia Tech naval armory on Third street, where he reviewed Georgia Tech's Naval R. O. T. C. unit. He stood on the synthetic bridge inside the armory and addressed the 200 boys, who stood on the floor below him. Then he went down and inspected the unit.

He paused before a young man who stood stiffly at attention, gripping a rifle. The young man had a black eye and a gash on his cheek.

"Your name is Nixon, isn't it?"
The young man said, "Yessir." His name was Jack Nixon. He is well known at Tech as a right guard on the varsity football squad. He also has served a hitch in the navy.

"They Licked the Marines."
The admiral's voice rang out through the armory:

Men and women who work for the government should devote themselves without conflicting loyalties to the public service. They should be selected on the basis of their ability and irrespective of loyalties to the public service. They should be selected on the basis of their ability and irrespective of their politics.

We had every reason to expect that these principles would be observed by President Roosevelt when he came into office. He had frequently, in the course of his public life, heartily indorsed the merit system of classified civil service. After his election he continued to indorse the merit system.

For instance, in a letter to the Civil Service Reform League in August, 1933, the President wrote: "The merit system in civil service is in no danger at my hands."

Two years later in a letter to the Civil Service Reform League, dated September 17, 1935, he again wrote: "The merit system has been and will continue to be extended during my administration."

And in a letter to the League of Women Voters, read on the radio January 30, 1936, he said: "There can be no question of greater moment or broader effect than the maintenance, strengthening and extension of the merit system. . . I am glad to assure your great organization of my support in this effort."

HAVE RIGHT TO SUPPLANT OFFICEHOLDERS IN I. S.

HAVE RIGHT TO SUPPLANT

OFFICEHOLDERS IN U. S.

These are words that could not help but meet the approval of all those interested in the cause of good government. Now let us look at the record of the past four years.

In July, 1933, in a signed article in the American Magazine called "Passing Out the Pat.onage," the postmaster general of the United States said: "The Democrats have the right... to supplant one-fifth, the right . . to supplant one-fifth, or 150,000, of the federal office-holders. . . The final decision on all these questions naturally rests with the President himself. I am all these questions naturally rests with the President himself. I am simply his helper."

Then the postmaster general continued: "The patronage is a reward to those who have worked for party victory. It is also an assistance in building party machinery for the next election. . . I am a trustee of something that does not belong to me. The patronage belongs to the Democratic party."

Those were frank words. It is not even necessary to read between the lines to understand them. They meant that every job that could be made available to. party workers, was to be made available. They meant that every dollar of the public money that could be used to help the party, was to be used. They meant that the postmaster general—who was also chairman of the Democratic national committee, and who was also chairman of the New York state Democratic committee—was authorized to greate a vest away Democratic authorized to create a vast army of political mercenaries in order to entrench the present administration

MERIT SYSTEM
NOT IN DANGER

There you have the sordid, operating plan of a president who claims to believe in the ideals of civil service—a president who only a month later wrote: "The merit system in civil service is in no danger in my hands."

Now let us see how this plan was Now let us see how this plan was put into effect. Here are the fig-On March 4. 1933, there were 100, 000 jobs available for patronage; 100,000 jobs that could be given to logal party workers. And by 325,000.

In other words, the patronage has tripled under the President and his tripled under the President and his postmaster general. This is a direct postmaster general. This is a direct violation of the President's promises. This is not good government. Now I know there has been patronage under all administrations. No party has a monopoly of virtue in

The army available for this administration's political machine is twice as big as the regular army of the United States. It is more than twice the patronage that any president has ever had in this country.

The increase in the federal pay roll as a result of this political army is more than $500,000,000 a year.

army is more than $500,000,000 a year.

Yet with all the expansion of patronage jobs what happened to the faithful civil service employe of regular departments? They had their pay reduced and many were discharged in the name of economy. And this is not good government.

The net result has been that the proportion of executive employes under the civil service has dropped from above 80 per cent in 1933 to approximately 60 per cent last June. The progress of a quarter of a century under five presidents has been nost—lost in three and one-half years under one president—a president who said only a year ago: "The merit system has been and will continue to be extended during my administration."

This administration insisted that the depression had all the aspects of a president was the sector.

This administration insisted that the depression had all the aspects of a great war. It maintained that ordinary traditional methods must be set aside—that great power must be centralized temporarily in the executive. It pleaded that all partisanship be forgotten—that petty advantage be sunk in this time of common need.

EMERGENCY WAS USED

FOR PARTY ADVANTAGES

Along with the great majority of my fellow citizens I co-operated with the chief executive in our common fight for national reconstruction. We all had the right to assume that e administration would set aside partisanship and work as a genuine national government. This it has not done. The great authority asked, and given, in the name of emergency has been used for personal and party advantage.

For three and one-half years both the letter and the spirit of the merit system have been cynically disresystem have been cynically disre-garded. Government employes have been forced into the ranks of a na-tional political machine, headed by the President and his postmaster gen-the President and his postmaster general—a machine organized by the President's campaign committee, supported off the public pay rolls, and controlled by the President's power of appointment and removal. And this is not good government.

This administration has gone hogwild in adding new agencies and accumulating new powers. It has created 75 new alphabetical what-nots. Many of these are little more than duplications of agencies already in existence. The conflict and confusion among all these agencies is so great that finally the President has appointed a grand co-ordinator—a appointed a grand co-ordinator—a grand co-ordinator whose functions overlap the functions of three over-lapping agencies studying the prob-lem of overlapping functions of overlapping agencies.

SOME OF AGENCIES HAVE GREAT POWER

Some of these agencies have immense powers, yet are responsible to no cabinet officer. They report only to the President or to some independent agency.

In addition, under this administration 42 corporations have been created by congress or incorporated unstable properties.

ated by congress or incorporated un ated by congress or incorporated under state laws.

Many of these are absolutely independent of congress. Many have the power to pledge the government's credit without control by congress and can even compete with private business. And this is not good government.

Small wonder that the President told congress in his report on the state of the Union last January that his administration had set up new instruments of public power—instruments capable of shackling our liberties and enslaving the people unless they were in the hands of a people's government. they were in the hands of a less they were in the names of a people's government.

The Republican party is opposed to powers and policies that could be used by anyone to shackle the liberties of the people or enslave the public. It is doubly opposed to such powers and policies when the people's government is itself threatsuch powers and policies when the people's government is itself threatened by a disciplined national political machine. We are seeing today, for the first time, the machine politics of our large cities, applied on a national scale. We are getti the first taste of the bitter fruits of personal government. We are feeling the voke of a government of spoilsmen, by spoilsmen and for spoilsmen.

MUST RESTORE MERIT SYSTEM

With the increasing responsibilities of government, it is absolutely essential that we have a body of trained public servants. The merit system must be restored, expanded and improved. The extension of the system must include the opening of higher positions to advancement.

ing of higher positions to advance-ment through merit.

Building a better and broader civil service will raise the standards of service will raise the standards of both the administrative and legislative branches of our government. It will save us money. If will not only give us better administration, it will give us better legislation. It will enable our legislators to concentrate on legislation.

The time has come to end this

The time has come to end this political debauch. The chief need of the federal government today is a good old-fashioned spring house-cleaning.

When I am president, I propose When I am president, I propose to make such a housecleaning. This will not disturb the employes under the classified civil service. They are not overpaid. They are not responsible for the waste and extravagance of the administration. The waste and extravagance is outside the classified civil service.

As chief executive I intend to give my close personal attention to the actual administration of government departments.

the actual administration of government departments.

I intend to ask congress immediately for legislation giving me authority to extend the merit system by executive order. Every position in the executive departments and agencies below the rank of assistant secretary should be filled either by promotion for merit or by competitive examinations.

ADEQUATE FUNDS CITED FOR CIVIL SERVICE BODY

At the same time, I intend to ask for authority to insure a real reorganization and consolidation of government bureaus and agencies.

And I intend to ask that adequate appropriations be given to the Civil Service Commission.

Service Commission.

I shall appoint to the cabinet and other executive positions only those whose belief in the merit system will lead to its full support. I shall appoint only men of ability with records of actual accomplishment. And under my administration no man who remains a member of the Republican national committee will be connected in any capacity with the executive branch of the government. Service Commissio

It is imperative that the members of the Civil Service Commission should thoroughly understand the problems of government personnel. It is imperative they administer the the head of one of the great parties and as President he not only has been shadow-boxing with his own challenge; he has abandoned his own rinciples.

The time has come to get rid of civil service laws impartially and humanely. I shall ask the commission to study at once the best way to place part-time and contract employes within the merit system.

And I shall ask that the Civil Service Commission provide open hearings—a court of appeals—for employes against whom charges have been made that may lead to the loss of their jobs. When such charges are made the accuser should face the accused. In my opinion anything short of such protection to our government worker is unjust and un-American. this tax-eating bureaucracy. We must return to a liberal democratic system.

The task of those who follow this administration will be no bed of roses. It will not be a job for geniuses who despise arithmetic. It geniuses who despise arithmetic. It will be a grinding undramatic responsibility—without fireworks and without showmanship. It will call for the simple virtues without which no family, no business, and no government can long endure.

But the task can be performed. It can be performed by an administration determined to give our people a government that is efficient, economical and houest. It can be performed because the American people will support an administration which is looking after their affairs instead of trying to perpetuate itself in power. As chief executive I shall devote myself to this task with all the energy and determination that I possess. As chief executive-I intend to have good government. Is Sound Investment.

A trained and efficient civil service personnel is a sound economic investment. It should appeal to every taxpayer. Political turnover in government offices encourages waste, inefficiency, and neglect of duty. It destroys morale. It lowers respect for government service. We need in government more civil servants like the rank and file of post-office employes—faithful men and women who have been appointed on merit and have advanced on merit. It is my intention to broaden the system of promotion in each department so that employes may look forward to continuous advancement.

More than ten years ago Mr. Roosevelt wrote to the National Service Reform League as follows:

"I should like to see one of the great parties come forward with a challenge to the other party offering to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service; to enter into a co-pact to uphold and maintain the civil service.

Dave time WITH ELECTRIC COOKERY

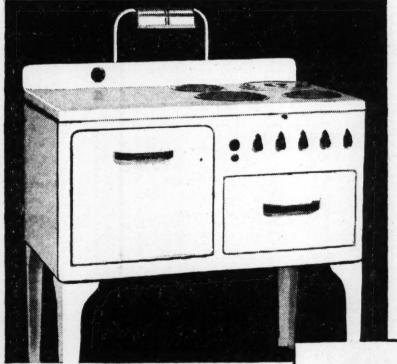

Life's too short to spend weary hours fussing over an old-fashioned range, preparing three meals a day, year after year. Electric cookery saves precious hours for you. It saves the watching, waiting, basting, required by the ordinary flame-heat range. With an electric range, just put a meal in the oven, set the automatic controls, and go off and enjoy yourself! Your dinner starts at the proper time, cooks with even, clean, electric heat, and the current turns off at exactly the right moment. And always you may be certain that electrically cooked food is more delicious, more healthful, because it is steamed in little or no water - not boiled! Boiling destroys health-giving vitamins and minerals.

See this Westinghouse Electric Range with the "special" improvements we have added to it to make it even better than the regular model. For faster and more economical cooking, we include three Corox units, an Economy Cooker for cooking a complete meal without intermingling of flavors, a warming compartment, a handy light over the surface units. And the price is lower than you would expect for this high quality range. Only $129.50, and further reduced by an old stove allowance of $15 to $114.50 net cash. Terms slightly higher.

Start now to enjoy complete kitchen freedom - an electric range requires minutes, instead of hours, of attention from you. There are other ranges in Hotpoint and L & H models from which to choose,

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS FAIR ENOUGH

BY PAUL-MALLON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 .- President Roosevelt's Good Word UP-AND-DOWN final speaking trip, more commonly known as supposed to whirl-drive him out into Ohio and whirlwind drive, was Indiana again. He had half-planned to make a speech at Fort Wayne and a stop at Toledo. You may have noticed that he is now whirling only through the east and driving no further west than Harrisburg. Thereby hangs a tale which involves more than travel.

The way the insiders here tell it, Indiana's Governor McNutt did not want much help from Washington early in the campaign. He even dissociated his state ticket as far as possible from the presidential slate, and consequently, in about 22 counties the Hoosier voters will be provided with separate ballots, one for Mr. McNutt's ticket and the other for presidential electors.

But since then the polls, which measure the blood pressure of voters weekly up and down for Mr. Roosevelt, have reported increasing popularity for the President and less for Mr. McNutt's state ticket. For that reason or others, Mr. McNutt's friends besought the White House for assistance. While Mr. Roosevelt was making up his latest itinerary, the stack of Indiana telegrams on his secretary's desk one morning reached an altitude of three inches. As Mr. McNutt is being mentioned as the possible heir apparent for 1940, as the probable next secretary of war and, in fact, for every federal job now open, it was assumed the President would certainly comply.

Yet he did not, and countless thousands of Mr. Roosevelt's friends are asking why, why, why.

CONFLICT The gentleman in the woodpile is not an Ethiopian, but apparently only Chairman "Sunny Jim" Farley. Those who should know say that Mr. Farley advised the President not to go galloping westward just to help Mr. McNutt's state ticket. For one thing, the Farleyites thought it would look bad. They thought such strenuous activity at the last minute would indicate lack of confidence on the part

Where that leaves the heir apparent is not apparent, but Governor McNutt certainly is not in the same spot he once occupied. That is the way it goes in politics, up one minute, down the next,

TODAY'S FEEDBOX GLEANINGS The surveys indicate a much smaller majority for Mr. Roosevelt in Maryland than generally expected, possibly no more than Delaware is doubtful, and not only because the Republican electors are split. Roosevelt's majority is being figured by some authorities at a bare 8,000, which means only that the total Republican and Democratic vote is very closely balanced.

Maine will give Landon a majority of about 85,000. Idaho will probably go for Roosevelt by about 18,000.

here today and gone tomorrow.

PERPLEXITY Among the many promises which Mr. Roosevelt has not made in this campaign is one about silver. A story comes from on high that he will seek modification of the silver purchase act at the next session, if re-elected. The only thing he has said on the subject was at Denver. There he took credit for the silver purchase program, which everyone around here had believed was put over on him by the silver senators, against his judgment and wishes.

The official text of his Denver speech, likewise, records his mention of "our great bullion reserves now in the United States treasury." But it does not record that he significantly ad libbed to his silver-minded anti-gold audience-"and you in Denver know something about them."

This has left the silver authorities around here knee-deep in a quandary, but their best judgment is that the President plans to do nothing about silver one way or another. The experts who have formulated his policy say they are quite content to leave things as they are, without modification or extension.

CONVERSATION Another development which has complicated silver expectations is the switch of James P. ("Off Loss of Jobs; I think the Again on Again") Warburg back to Roosevelt. Mr. Warburg has been for and against the President so often that statisticians have lost count, but at the time this was written, he was still sticking to an announcement that he was for Roosevelt.

The announcement did not mention it, but Mr. Warburg has a silver record. He once wrote a book, "The Money Muddle," in which he caustically analyzed the monetary policy, exhausting every angle of it except silver. In 1932, he advised the house coinage committee to put silver in the monetary reserves. His business connections are likewise highly regarded professional Speculation has naturally resulted in the question of whether the return of the official-strayed silver prodigal involves any changes in silver policy. The consensus is that it does not.

good word to say for Satan who is a thoroughly bad character and does not live right but, all of a sudden, it comes over me that he provides more employment than Henry Ford and the wPA combined, and gets nothing but abuse for his reward. Going back to my earliest acquaint-ance with Satan, I recall being told by our school teacher that Satan was the inventor of the cigaret. The ciga ret was comparatively rare in our part of the country in those days but many earnest ladies and pious gentle men made a fair living going from school to school warning the kiddles that if they smoked cigarets they might meet a fate which was, to their way of thinking, worse than death. death.

They had charts which they hung above the blackboards like the map of South America, showing the evolution of a boy into a chimney and placards depicting the moral decline of the addict. In one of these places which the standard of the second should be seen as the seco ards there was a bright-eyed, shiny-faced boy eagerly running an errand for his mother and a drowsy, untily little bum with circles under his eyes and a cigaret dangling from his under lip, just leaning against the window of a saloon, too lazy to run any errands for anybody.

Cigaret Industry Run Into Millions. 30 years ago and since then, what with the war, the emancipation of woman and all, the cigaret production in our country alone has run up into the hundreds of billions. The habit has spread all over the world. The little handful of earnest ladies and pious old gentlemen were practically the only ones who made any time out of the devil's new invention in those days but, today, actually, millions of people are employed in the production of cigarets. If you were to abolish the cigaret abruptly you would create a situation ago abruptly you would create a situation almost as bad as World War combined with a famine. Great areas of our own country would be stricken as if by the terrible wrath of God. Planters, pickers, packers, machine hands, mechanics, printers, box-makers, tinfoil and cellophane workers, shipping hands, warehouse people, retail personnel and advertising men would be tossed into the streets men would be tossed into the streets by the thousands. You would have to include all other tobacco products along with the cigarets because the doctors all say tobacco is as bad in one form as in another and that would mean the end of all jobs dependent on the tobacco industry. The suffering would be awful in the advertising field because the him cigaret firms spend because the big cigaret firms spend so much that a man I know quite well is rich on the commission from just one account.

Sale of Homes. 15 per cent and my friend has my friend has four homes in widely separated parts of the country and a big transport plane in which to hop from one to another. Of course, he would have to sell some of those homes and ground the ship. The pilot and the servants and gardeners and all would lose their table.

That old Satan took a lot of us off the street when he developed the tobacco industry with particular preference to the cigaret division and his invention of alcoholic beverages helped least as much. And now we ourselves so dependent on those habits that we do not dare forswear them for fear that the disorder and suffer for fear that the disorder and suffering would be worse than the vices themselves.

We must thank Satan in the name of the legal profession too, because if all men were honest and deaf to the larcenous promptings and vengeful mutterings of old Mr. Satan, there would be very little work for lawyers. In fact, if Satan were not on the job, there would be very few men of the legal temperament and, of course, job, there would be very few men of the legal temperament and, of course, the cops and G-men would all be on the town, as we say. Our journalism would be a dull and stuffy institution without any news of divorce or tion without any news of divorce or the medical practice of our doctors would never occur because so many of the ills that flesh is heir to are directly traceable to intemperance or Strictly speaking we must give Satan metric pattern over the bald whiteness of his cranium.

The white-faced boy in overalls, with eyes that looked like burnt holes in the bleached canvas of his face. The older men, gray-haired and intent, wielding cues with expert precision.

And all of them, it seemed to me, playing with a degree of skill that argued either excessive leisure or a misspent youth.

To Provide a Little Social Justice Is Better Than Talking About a Lot

The liberal editor of an influential midland weekly, strolling down Fifth avenue when that thoroughfare was in its social glory, surrendered to the force of habit and began to compose eloquent lines condemning the social injustice that enabled a few people to live in such elegant mansions Suddenly editorial habit was interrupted by a flash of mental hon-esty and he said to himself, as he later confessed: "It isn't the evidence of social injustice that troubles me; it is plain envy." Otherwise honest people are writing and speaking a great deal of hypocritical twaddle about social injustice. There are people who are genuinely distressed by economic unfairness and eager to help the underdog. They prove their sincerity by helping him at the expense of their own purses. Almost they obey the ancient command: "Go and sell what thou hast, and give to the poor, and come and follow me." But there are others who give only lip service to the cause of social welfare and enjoy philanthropy only while being good fellows with other people's money. It doesn't require a big heart to be generous with money that belongs to somebody else.

We cannot solve social problems by pretending to be better than we are. The success of bootleggers during prohibition should have taught

The ordinary individual is resentful when he observes that some man has made a million dollars by treating a million people unjustly. But if he himself could make an equal sum by being unjust to the same million, they would get a second dose.

How horrified people were when fly-by-night manufacturers, capitalizing the depression, paid girls less than one dollar a week for making garments. But how glad they were to find servants who were willing to work for their board.

Humans are selfish. They won't hurt themselves much to help strangers. All would get rich if they could, and lucre doesn't really seem filthy except to those who can't get it.

Talking social justice in high-flown generalities won't get us anywhere, nor will glowing promises of the impossible.

No good will be done until hard-headed, practical men, free of en-thusiasm, undertake the job of finding out how many people really need help and how much help the country can give without going broke. Giving the hungry the bread you have is much kinder than talking about cake they'll never get.

ROSE OF SOLEDAD

By GEORGE E. HOLT

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Shane O'Hara, of the Baltimore O'Haras, turns in his expensive biplane to help out the family finances when his once wealthy father dies, buys a ruty old crate he once owned, and heads for California to see what can be done with a ranch his father gave him on his 21st birthday. When he is near San Feliz, his plane takes fire and he goes over the side with a parachute, landing in a giant elm tree. He hears somebody whistling "Little Birdie in the Tree" and discovers the whistle comes from a small figure in khaki shirt and faded blue trousers that is leaning on shoe. "To you always get down from your plane this away?" comes next from the impertinent kid and Shane promises an old-fashioued spanking when he gets to earth. He does just that, only to discover that the person he has spanked is a girl who at first is angry, then goes away laughing when she notes his embarrassment.

Now, young men from Baltimore do not become entangled in elm trees in southern California without some reason.

It had not been on Shane O'Hara's agenda at all to become entangled in an elm tree in southern California, in spite of the claims of the San Diego or Los Angeles Chambers of Commerce as to the advantage of California elm trees over all others as elm trees in which to become entangled. Nor had he been so overcome by the beauty of the California vista, nor the salubriousness of the California climate, nor the appeal of California progressiveness, that he had set fire to his ship in mid-air, and descended by 'chute to an elm tree, sayinz: "After this, there is nowhere else to go."

At the time of their harvest feast, Chinese fathers and mothers give presents to their children, such as little "harvest dolls" and models of pagodas. The moon-goddess is not the only one honored—flags are flown in honor of the goddess of the Big Dipper, flags each with seven stars making the outline of the star group. Rice and soy beans are two big crops grown by the Chinese, and in northern china the wheat crop is also very important.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(UP)—Betting on outcome of the presidential race is becoming more active as election nears, with the odds on President Roosevelt narrowing slightly, Wall Street betting commissioners said today.

Others Active in Support. Other constitutional officers of the state who are given four-year terms under the amendment lengthening the term of the governor are openly active in its support. Although all of them nominated in the September primary demonstrated conclusively that as far as their present offices are concerned they are tops with the voters, it is only natural they should want to avoid a campaign, and its attendant costs, two years from now.

Although Talmadge has remained quiet, his attitude appears to be re-flected in the newspapers which sup-ported him throughout his last cam-paign. Practically all of them have come out against the four-year-term proposal. To these may be added sev-eral newspapers, which while they did not actively support the Talmadra not actively support the Talmadge ticket through the summer, were not active in their support of the success-active in their support of the successful Talmadge opposition.

The friends of Senator Walter F. George, a potent factor in any study of the state political picture, are beginning to show signs of activity in behalf of the four-year term. Senator George is up for re-election in 1938. The senior senator is known to have felt kindly toward the Rivers candidacy for governor, although he made no speeches in behalf of the nominee. Hi. friends, however, feel that should Talmadge take out after him in 1938 th. senior senator's chance would be greatly enhanced if there is no gubernatorial campaign on. They have no doubt to whom the powerful Rivers organization would swing in the event of a two-man race between Talmadge and Senator George.

Russell Organization.

Russell Organization. As has often been told, the Russell organization which puts the junior senator over whenever he is up for election has done what it always has election has done what it always has done—gone about its business. It is an element in Georgia politics that only awakens when Russell is in danger. It expects nothing when the Russell race is ended except political peace until the junior senator seeks a new term. It would favor that political peace even in Russell election years and leaps into action only when Russell is attacked. It is one of the strangest, yet strongest, political organization ever developed in this state.

It has been said that up until a few weeks ago, in fact since the September primary, Talmadge and his lieutenants did not know that the constitution, as written at present, barred Talmadge from seeking the governorship until 1940. The constitution now provides that a governor ernorship until 1940. The constitu-tion now provides that a governor who has served two terms cannot run again for another two terms. For a few days after the Talmadge defeat on September 9 it is understood Tal-madge hoped to come back in the race for governor in 1938, but discovery of the preventive is said to have steered him in the direction of Sena-tor Georg: and turned thoughts of a gubernatorial campaign toward some gubernatorial campaign toward some Pin Hopes on Failure.

But as far as can be learned the plan to beat the four-year term proposal if possible is being adhered to. The Talmadg- folks still believe the wide range program laid down by Rivers is beyond human accomplishment within two years and they pin their hope of their own success at present in the hope for Rivers failure.

No one knows any better than Rivers that he has a hard program to accomplish. No one knows any better than he that much of that program depends on the re-election of President Roesevel and to that end he is campaigning in the doubtful state of Ohio in the last days of the national campaign. To hin at the moment success of his present endeavor is far more important than an election two years hence.

Hartman Ready for Tennessee; Tech Stresses Deception

Bernie Bierman's story is tailor-made for one of those success magazines.

It develops the trite and true old axiom, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.' Bernie Bierman was coaching at Mississippi A. & M. in the early twenties. After one of his defeats he confided in the late Dan McGugin, of Vanderbilt, that he, Bierman, did not believe he should continue in the coaching profession. He was discouraged and felt perhaps he was not meant to be a football coach.

McGugin encouraged him and urged him to continue, saying he would find himself and that the game needed men of his character and intelligence.

Bierman stayed on. Later came the Tulane job and a tremendous success there. His old school called him back and he has established Minnesota as one of the great teams of all time. And Bierman is regarded, and very properly so, as one of the best coaches in the pro-

BERNIE BIERMAN.

McGugin never mentioned the incident until Bierman had made a great success at Minnesota. And did so then only to encourage some friend who was about to give up another profession and try something else.

Horatio Alger painted no better success story than this one of the silent man at Minnesota whose team is leading the nation for the third year.

A MINNESOTA VOGUE.

Red Dawson's success at Tulane may touch off a "Let's-Get-a-Minnesota-Coach" campaign similar to the one which swept the country when the late Knute Rockne was riding the crest at Notre Dame.

Literally dozens of schools tossed overboard their coaches and hired products from Notre Dame. The Notre Dame system became a sort of vogue. At one time in the south, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Georgia, Florida, Auburn and Alabama all had the Rockne system of play.

It was a brilliant, dazzling offense. It pleased the eye. And it won games. Now many of the Notre Dame coaches have changed the

Only a few coaches retain the system of play as Rockne

Minnesota is the big team of today. It has surpassed Rockne's consecutive string of victories. The team hasn't captured the public fancy as did the South Bend eleven. Probably because it does not travel extensively, confining its play to the middle west. Red Dawson has attracted attention at Tulane with a very fine job of coaching. And without doubt when college athletic associations begin to cast about for a new coach, a great many of them will put an eye on Minnesota and wire Bernie Bierman to recommend one of his products.

OFFICIALS' NIGHTMARE.

As an old pal of the southern football officials, I can tell them right here and now that they should congratulate themselves they haven't run into anything such as that of the Yale-Navy game last week.

Larry Kelley, the wise-cracking Yale end, was in full stride when the ball was fumbled. It struck his foot and was kicked to within three yards of the Navy goal, where Yale recovered. Yale scored the winning touchdown from that point.

The rule covering that point is as follows: Article 4, Rule 10:

Bulldog-Vol Struggle at Athens Saturday Attracts Interest.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 27.—Georgia's Bulldogs labored in the cold of Sanford field this afternoon in defensive tactics, heartened by the prospect that husky Bill Hartman, fullback, hurt in the Furman contest, would be ready for duty against Tennessee here Saturday urday.

Maurice Green, who played commendable ball Saturday, foresaw stiff opposition from Hartman. The rest of the way, barring hurts, it is expected to be a heated battle. Hartman has been recuperating from the effects of a broken vessel in his leg. He has practically shaken off his limp and shous be able to tote the ball.

The first meeting in 11 years beand should be able to tote the ball.

The first meeting in 11 years between Georgia and Coach Bob Neyland's Volunteers promises to draw much interest. The invaders will be similar to the Bulldogs in that a large number are getting their first varsity experience. About half of them are sophomores, with the other half being divided between juniors and senjors.

TENNESSEE PLAYS.

Coach Weems Baskin sent his Red Devils against the varsity with a pack of Tennessee plays. Many passing plays zere included with the Bulldogs failing to bat down a very high average. Miller and Vandiver, who have dropped back to scrub duty, composed the real offensive threat. Otis Maffett was trying unusually hard this afternoon as he manned left end. The Arburn encounter brought out an encouraging feature for the coaches. The team is less subject to penalties, but still aggressive. The Red and Black was assessed two offside penalties to 50 yards for Auburn. The total yards of Georgia penalties is much lower this season than last. TENNESSEE PLAYS.

Unusually cool weather attended the workout today. Overcoats were very much in need. Coach Mehre outlined two more scrimmages for the week and ordered lecture sessions for Wednesday and Thursday nights. He declines to make any predictions on the needay and Thursday nights. He de-clines to make any predictions on the game, but it is evident that he fore-sees defeat unless the Bulldogs play surprising ball.

The team had improved each game for the past two weeks and Georgia coaches fee! that they will start the last half of the season with better chances. The team is expected to last half of the season with better chances. The team is expected to start working more as a unit. In most of the tilts to date individual play has been characteristic. It was considered significant that Rickey's offer to trade his best hurler came a day after Lon Warneke, obtained from the Chicago Cubs, was signed to a 1937 contract. Also possibly influencing the club's decision was Dean's reputed assertion that he would not report to the Cardinals' new training camp at Daytona Beach, Fla.. but would train at Bradenton, his home.

tics for the American Football Coaches Association and the N. C. On the last drive late in the fourth quarter, when Vanderbilt had stormed from the IO-yard line to Tech's 37, the boys were trying to get in position for Plasman to try a place-kick when that pass was intercepted.

"If the game had lasted long enough and Tech would have punted, Huggins was to fair catch the ball and we would have tried a place-kick from the spot, regardless how far it was," revealed one Commodore after the game.

STOPPING THE DUTCHMAN. What was the hardest run of the game?

Majority opinion among the Commodores hand it to the spot opinion of the spot of the Cardinals from Houston in the spring of 1932. Last winter, in a now famous exchange of letters, Rickey pointed out that Dizzy would have to change his attitude if he hoped to remain with the club and Dean became a firm holdout. Shifting winds will save Atlanta this morning from a drop of temperature into the upper 30's, it was announced yesterday by the weather bureau.

Winds early yesterday were driving cold blasts toward the city from the morthwest, but during the day the winds shifted around to east by northeast, bringing cloudier skies and not much change in temperature.

"It will be, perhaps, a few degrees cooler Wednesday morning than it was Tuesday morning," said Chief Forecaster George W. Mindling. "Winds from the east or northeast, however, bring little change in temperatures."

Yesterday the mercury climbed from 45 degrees in the morning to 60 in the afternoon. Today's climb is expected to be from 42 to 58 or 60.

Sasa Smith Flies to Atlanta Mimosa Garden Club On Saturday To Attend Ball Hears Mrs. Lamar

By Sally Forth.

WHEN the airplane wends its swift way next Saturday through the blue ozone from New Orleans to Atlanta, blonde and lovely Sasa Smith will be among the passengers. She is attending Sophie Newcomb College, but as a member of the current debutante coterie, Sasa will fly to Atlanta to attend the Halloween ball at the Piedmont Driving Club that evening, when the debbies will be presented officially to society. Sasa has chosen Leonard Richardson and Bill Holland to escort her in the procession, which will form in the club foyer and march into the white-columned ballroom to the strains of lilting music.

Sasa, who has been cited in the New Orleans newspapers as one of the best-dressed girls at Sophie Newcomb, will don a becoming white satin evening gown to wear to the ball, and her golden tresses will be held in place with rhinestone clips. The Tulane University football squad chose Sasa as their pretty sponsor, and she was elected the society editor of the Tulane Weekly, the publication that keeps the students posted she was extremely grieved. There was an unusually close bond be-on Wallis' humble beginnings, when worldly possessions are considered, annoys Dr. Taylor, just as it does other Baltimoreans who knew her and her mother.

the fashionable school was Mary Wilson Dickey, who will travel to Kansas to be a bridesmaid in Josephine's wedding. She is the daughter of the Irving Dickeys, former residents of Atlanta, and is a niece of James L. Dickey, prominent Atlantan. These pop-

DR. FREDERICK TAYLOR, Baltimore blueblood and social registerite, remembers the Simpson, whose companionship with King Edward of Great Britain has occasioned so much comment. Her mother was Alice Montague, member of the witty Montague family of Virginia, who married Wallis Warfield of the old and rich Baltimore family.

Her father, descended from Emory family, which had an original land grant from George III of England in colonial days. And Wallis' mother traced from the Love family, which also had an original grant. Such blood is an unquestionable card of admittance to Baltimore society.

But Wallis was only an in-fant when her father died sud-The struggle which followed for the young widow and her child is remembered by Dr. Taylor, who says:

"After Warfield's death the widow lived here and there. "She managed to keep Wallis in school. Sometimes they lived together. Sometimes not. Ther was one period when Mrs. War field acted as a sort of housekeeper at the Chevy Chase Country Club in Washington, supervising the menus for special

"The Warfield knocker was as bright as the rest. But Wallis' mother had to take in roomers to turn the trick. Some of them ate their dinners there, and one of them became Mrs. Warfield's second husband years later.

"Twelve years passed before Mrs. Warfield married again, and then it was to I. Freeman Rasin, also from a good family. Wallis married and left Baltimore, and then her mother was married a third time, to Charles Allen, of Washington. After a few years she became seriously ill, lost her sight and died. I saw Wallis when she came back from London after her mother's death and

Mrs. Joseph Lamar spoke of the plan put forward by a national committee to commemo rate the sesquicentennial of the writing of the constitution of the United States. Miss Memminger Is Bride Of Mr. Gorham at Home Ceremony

Of widespread social importance due to the prominence of the two families was the marriage yesterday of Miss Elinor Memminger, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Memminger, and Karl Gorham, of New York, which was an event taking place at the home of the bride's, parents on Peachtree circle. Rev. Memminger performed the ceremony at high noon in the presence of only the immediate families due to the recent illness of the bride's father is rector, presented a program of wedding music prior to and during the ceremony.

The ceremony was performed in the living room before the fireplace which was banked with quantities of palms, ferns and cathedral candelabra holding burning tapers. Throughout the lower floor of the home an artistic arrangement of pastel shaded flowers including roses, snapdragons, dahlias and delphinium were used as the decorations.

Haynes McFadden and A. H. Sterne were the groomsmen and Mrs. Hoke Smith Simpson acted as matron of honor and only attendant for her sister. She was handsomely gowned in a model of blue lame featuring a deep V-neck in the back and front and a long full bouffant skirt. Her small hat was of the same material and she carried an arm bouquet of Briarcliff roses and pale blue delphinium.

Entering with her cousin, Beverly DuBose, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was men at the altar by the groom and Gordon Leake, of New York, who was best man. Her

A Grand Shampoo—Inexpensive and Efficient.

By MIGNON.

One of the most disagreeable ills the flesh is heir to is a dried-out scalp. So many people try rubbing olive oit into the scalp the night before they give themselves a shampoo, which is a very sensible thing to do. But they complain if they can't get all the oil out with the first shampoo.

There is a shampoo that I told you about some time ago, but is worth repeating. It will not only take the dirt out of your hair, but will also get rid of the oil in a hurry. The object is to let the oil soak into the

to the soil; if it has long, heavy roots, the plant prefers a heavy soil. But many fibrous-feeding roots show that it likes a mellow soil, usually one rich in leaf mold. Then continuing our detective work, we reason that if it likes leaf mold it also prefers shade, for under trees is the natural place to find leafmold.

If the roots go deep, it prefers a dry soil, while shallow roots mean that it likes and needs water. Then depending on the place where it is to be planted you choose a shrub that is spreading or one that has an upright growth. Never place a spreading shrubs near your entrance, for you will eventually ruin its natural shape by frequent cutting back, or you will ruin the appearance of your entrance by having it overgrown. Remember that altitude and latitude both affect the hardiness of your shrubs. So do not select a shrub that is a bit tender in your section, thinking that every winter you will protect it with some General Hugh S. Johnson, first NRA administrator, called on the President today, but Mr. Roosevelt denied there had been any discussion of a new NRA.

Reminded that his son James had been quoted as saying that he planned a renewal of the old "Blue Eagle" agency, Mr. Roosevelt retorted with a grin that James also had been quoted as saying no revival was planned.

NEW YORK, Monday.—We came to New York last night in time to have supper with my daughter and her family. This morning I felt like an early bird when I managed to get from way downtown to Eightieth street in time for the opening exercises at Todhunter school.

To my amusement Dr. Hendrik Van Loon's disparaging words on the songs our youngsters know brought about a competition. Nine songs in his book were played and our youngsters found they knew six, which I think is not a bad record. They now have his songbook and he will be responsible for the songs they know in the future.

HAVING a neat, freshly attractive lawn throughout the entire year has long been an acute problem, particularly here in the South where soil and climatic conditions are not normally as conducive to good results as in some other parts of the country.

We in the South can have fine lawns, and can have them winter and summer, if we but take the trouble to provide for their needs.

CRIMINALS SEEKING GOVERNMENT JOBS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 .- (AP)-J.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(P)—J. Edgar Hoover, Federal Bureau of Investigation director, said today that in September between 1,000 and 2,000 persons who had criminal records sought to enlist in the army, win police department appointments or secure government jobs.

FOOD AND MOISTURE

The controlling factor in good growth of grass anywhere is having a liberal supply of well balanced food and the moisture necessary for the plants to absorb the solution the food makes in the soil.

The reason qui 'a few of our lawn areas are so lacking in ability to grow a good lawn is because there is not enough humus in the soil to hold the plant food and the necessary moisture to sustain growth over the entire year's period.

HUMUS

Humus is available in a number of different forms—from a growing crop turned into the soil; bringing in woods soil; adding sterilized manures;

adding peat moss.

Cowpeas grown and turned under in late summer add considerable humus and, supplemented with the more concentrated sheep manure, forms the basis for a good lawn soil. Where time is an element to be considered it is

Where time is an element to be considered it is not possible to wait a full season on the growth of a crop, so for quick results and effective as well, a combination of sheep manure and peat moss applied at the rate of 100 pounds sheep manure and one to two bales of peat moss for each thousand square feet of lawn area proves excellent, particularly when spaded well into the upper six inches, the feeding area of the soil. This highly absorbent material acts as a sponge, holding moisture for dry periods, and in the moisture is held the food elements in solution ready for use by the grass roots at all times.

SOIL PREPARATION

Thorough spading or plowing to a depth of twelve inches and pulverizing to eliminate clods is essential to a good seed bed. At this point we add our humus, lime, and fertilizer, mixing it evenly in the upper six inches and raking off smoothly and eliminating sticks. clods, and stones that interfere with uniform growth.

SEEDING

Five to ten pounds of good grass seed mixtures usually are ample to seed one thousand square feet of new lawn area, many successful lawn makers using the larger quantity to insure uniformity and a quicker show of results.

By dividing the amount of seed to be used into two equal parts we may sow half north and south across the area and the other half in an east and west direction and thus avoid skips.

west direction and thus avoid skips.

MITCHELL AT BROAD WA. 9464

REMAKING OLD LAWNS

In most cases where grass has worn down very thin with many skips it is advisable to start from the beginning as with a new lawn. But when there is a fair stand with only a few skips then a heavy dressing of Sheep manure, Peat moss and Vigoro scratched lightly into the sod and skips (reseeding skips and thin places) will invigorate the grass into new life and lustre for the season.

TIME TO PLANT

In the South our finest lawns are started during the cooler months of the year and when there is no danger of freezing while the young grass is becoming established. October, November and March are considered ideal times in the upper half of the cotton belt and from October until March farther South, though preparatory work may be done at any other time that is convenient.

GRASSES TO USE

Hastings' Evergreen Lawn Grass for sunny loca-tions, and Hastings' Shady Lawn Grass for more shaded locations, will give the finest year 'round lawns that is is possible to have. Both mixtures are heavy feeders and require abundant food and mois-ture, always available. They are made of only the highest grades of suitable varieties for the finest growth and appearance and will do credit to any ome, large or small. Either mixture contains just the correct blend to fit almost every condition that is encountered in lawn making here in the South. They will grow into a thick, heavy turf that surely will be the pride of the entire neighborhood, adding materially to the relief of the home giving it such a mail. to the value of the home-giving it such a well to the value of the home—giving it such a well dressed, well groomed appearance that excites pleasant comment. They have been developed by Hastings' own grass experts through intimate knowledge of Southern lawn problems covering almost fifty years of experience. Our secret formula remains the same regardless of price of ingredients.

Bermuda grass is the standby for very sunny locations in all sections of the South and thrives on light or heavy soils and withstands adversity but responds to good treatment. It is strictly a summer lawn as it turns brown with frost, but fortunately a seeding now of Hastings' Wintergreen Rye Grass (ten pounds for each thousand square feet), worked well into the Bermuda sod will quickly sprout and give a brilliant green display through the winter until spring brings the Bermuda into growth again.

Daily Bond Averages.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(P)—Sentiment in the bond market reversed itself today, aiding corporate issues to recover much of the ground lost on Monday.

The rally in rail, utility and convertible liens, although the outstanding development of the session, failed to overshadow the spirited trading of government bonds, most of which was done as slightly lower prices.

The volume of all bonds traded totaled $16,278,000, face value, compared with $10,011,000 on Monday.

Of the total, United States governments accounted for roughly $5,930, 000 which was the largest amount traded since July 17 when $9,970,000 was recorded.

Alleghany 5s of 1949 gained 1 1-2 NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Raw sugar was unchanged today at 3.39 for spots. The inplies confirmed was 2,000 bags of Philippines concluded late yesterday to an outport refiner for early November arrival at 3.39. Sigar futures eased off under increased liquidation and hedge selling late in the day which seemed to be promoted by uncertainty over the coming election and the inactivity in the spot market, were at about the lows of the day and 1 to 3 points net lower. Sales were 7,250 tons.

May

A decline that had persisted for 10 days was halted on the cotton market in today's trading and futures ran up more than 50 cents a bale in active dealings. dealings. The turnabout in trading trend was attributed to a slackening in hedge selling, heavy price fixing in December and other near months and a more optimistic view of cotton's current statistical position.

ON N. Y. MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(P)—Early declines of 4 to 7 points in cotton today met increased resistance and on trade buying and covering prices rallied about $1 a bale from the lows. January advanced from 11.51 to 11.72 and closed at the high, with the general market ending at net gains of 10 to 16 points.

Approval of an 800,000-share increase in the capital stock to make it 6,000,000 shares also was voted by the

'In the opinion of your officers and "In the opinion of your officers and board of directors," said a statement to stockholders, "the company is not justified in paying such a large sur-tax, to avoid which the major portion tax, to avoid which the major portion of our earnings must be distributed to the shareholders."

Disbursement to employes of the Atlanta branch will be in the form of Christmas bonuses, it was reported here yesterday.

R. E. Wood, president, said the capital stock increase was based on the need for more working capital because of improvement in gross volume of business. He said the indicated gross volume for 1936 was $500,000, 000, compared with $276,000 in 1932 and $440,000,000 in 1929. and $440,000,000 in 1929.

The extra dividend, payable December 15 to stock of record November ber 15 to stock of record November 6, was in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents. About 4,800,000 shares are outstanding, of which the employes' savings and profit sharing pension fund, with about 10 per cent is the largest individual holder, General R. E. Wood, president of the firm, said.

The second extra dividend will be The second extra dividend will be based on later estimates of earnings for the fiscal year, ending January 29, Wood said, adding that indications were it would equal the one announced Tuesday. Increased inventories and accounts receivable, he said, had increased more than $60,000,000 during the last four years. "About the middle of December directors will meet again and recon-sider the estimates of the company for the fiscal year," the announce-ment said. "At that time a more ac-curate estimate of the earnings can be made than is possible at present, and the board will then determine and declare the balance of the extra dividend which will be payable about the middle of January. Sears, nearing the end of its golden jubilee sales promotion year, has been doing an all-time record volume of business so far in 1936.

IPSWICH, England, Oct. 27.—(P)
The following is the complete official transcript of the divorce proceedings in the case of Mrs. Ernest Simpson against her husband at the Ipswich assizes today:

Norman Birkett, attorney for Mrs. Simpson, opened the proceedings, saying:

"I appear in this case with my learned friend. Mr. Walter Framples."

Justice Hawke asked Birkett regarding the importance of the letter. Birkett replied:

If I mar say so, with great respect, the importance of the letter was merely historical.

NAVY DAY. Yesterday being Navy Day, your correspondent stood on one foot and drank a cup of coffee as a toast to the men in the United States navy and to those on the bridge of the U. S. S. Dickerson in particular.

The navy drinks coffee almost constantly. The men employ it as a soporific. And last spring, while on the cruise with the Dickerson, your correspondent learned to drink coffee while on the bridge with a heavy sea running. The destroyers do a lot of rolling and pitching and drinking coffee on the bridge is an art. Which explains the drinking of the coffee while standing on one foot. It was almost like being back on the bridge.

The navy is a grand institution and the men of the fleet, officers, C. P. O.'s and the rest of the crew make up a great asset to the nation.

The Navy Day idea is a great one. I wish we could dig channel up the Chattahoochee so ships could come and go. And I wish the politicians would repair the damage done by the last retirement bill and arrange it so the men will want to stay there. The veterans are the backbone of the fleet.

"Take stock with yourself," he urged a large crowd of voters from this area gathered at a district rally in the Sandusky city auditorium. "If you are better off today than you were when Mr. Roosevelt took office, were when Mr. Roosevelt took office, show your appreciation for his work. If you are worse off, I would not blame you if you voted against Mr. Roosevelt. But I have been in Ohio long enough to know that everyone in the state, save some of your wealthiest people, are living under much better conditions than they were four years ago."

Although there have been some conflicts between the Ohio state and national administration, not as serious

"I know Governor Davey has criticized the national administration at times, but his criticisms have been within the party." Rivers said. "He is a loyal Democrat and I call on the Democracy of Ohio to be loyal to him." Mr. Rivers speaks tomorrow night at Bellaire and Wednesday night at Newark. He will return to Georgia in time to cast his own ballot next Tuesday.

NEW SUSPECT HELD IN DODSON SLAYING

Negro Booked by Police on Charge of Suspicion of Murder.

Another suspect in the mysterious urder of Berry C. Dodson, 51-year-d street car operator, who was und slain in a street car at the end of the Magnolia car line October 10, as arrested yesterday.

The suspect, according to Patrolan W. D. Nash, who arrested him in a Decatur street motion picture theater yesterday afternoon, is Er-nest Turner, negro, of 235 Auburn avenue, also known as Tommie and James Brown.

Patrolman Nash said the suspect answered the description of a negro seen near the murder scene. Turner was booked on a charge of suspicion murder.

Detective Dick Engelbert, however, who has been investigating the case, did not link Turner with the Dodson case, but said he was wanted as a witness in the recent shooting of a negro girl, who was allegedly shot by James Worthy, negro, arrested ne time ago in connection with the
